The Conference

For the third year Wicked Good Ember serves as the only conference in the United States other than EmberConf, and is the second largest Ember.js conference in the world. We aim to bring 200 Ember.js developers to Boston this summer, this is a great opportunity for your company to get noticed at a reasonable price.

The Speakers

Wicked Good Ember has built a reputation for pulling in some of the best in the Ember community and beyond, this year is no different. Chris McCord, the creator of the Elixir Phoenix framework, and Dan McClain, the head of DockYard's engineering team, will be delivering the closing keynote for day one. Ember.js co-founder Tom Dale will be providing our closing keynote. We'll be selecting another 11 talks to complete the speaker lineup.

Previous Sponsors

In past years we've been fortunate enough to be sponsored by some of the most recognizable brands in the Ember community. We'd very much like to add yours to our growing network:
